Trombly To Locate New Building On Andover - North Andover Line

The Trombly Motor Coach company will locate its operation in a new building to be constructed on the North Andover line near Merrimack College.

Francis J. Trombly, owner of the company which services the Greater Lawrence area with local transportation and express service to Boston, said this week, that construction of a new 145 by 130 foot building should get underway soon and the building ready for occupancy by Thanksgiving time.

The location of the building will be on land Trombly has owned for some time. It is off the Route 125 bypass to the rear of a service station.

To effectively carry out plans for his new building, Trombly negotiated a transfer of land between his company and Merrimack College.

Trombly said the land swap will permit his new structure to adequately take advantage of trees in the area. The tree line now existing will be retained and will screen the transit operation from the roadway and surrounding properties.

Building permits for the new structure have been obtained and final drafting of the plans of the new building are now underway.

The new facility will allow the housing of a minimum of 30 buses under cover, Trombly reports. Until such time as the new building is ready for occupancy, he will continue to operate out of his Lupine road building.

For Trombly, it is a bit of a success story which has forced him to move toward new facilities.

He has operated a bus firm locally and in the Greater Lawrence area for a number of years, starting with school bus operations and charter business.

The Greater Lawrence area, a few years ago, was serviced by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway for local bus service and also for service to Boston, after train service dwindled to the once a day round trip service now available.

Then the Massachusetts Transit Authority announced it was taking over the Eastern Mass. operations.

This would have resulted in the area communities subsidizing the Boston-based, deficit ridden transit authority.

Trombly stepped in and offered his services, which he said he felt could be operated on a profitable basis without affecting local taxes.

He had difficulty for a time providing service into Park square, with other firms attempting to get the express service from the area and state and Boston authorities holding up the necessary permits for Trombly to go to the Park square terminal.

After a lengthy battle, Trombly succeeded in obtaining the Park square permit and he has been operating into that terminal on a regularly scheduled basis since.

In addition to his regularly scheduled service, Trombly's charter work has also increased and he continues to service the town of Wilmington with school bus transportation.

He is also currently seeking permits to operate a limousine

MEMORABLE. Mrs. Marian MacLachlan of 59 Salem St., Lawrence, examines the Carnegie Medal she was awarded for rescuing four youngsters from the surf at Salisbury beach 25 years ago this month. Mrs. MacLachlan, a Haverhill street resident at the time, was walking along the beach when a youngster told of the plight of the four youngsters. Mrs. MacLachlan plunged into the surf fully clothed and rescued Cynthia Conley and Charlotte White of Lawrence and Elizabeth Fleet of Haverhill, the fourth youngster leaving the area before lifeguards, who came to assist, could identify her. The medal was later presented to Mrs. MacLachlan for her Aug. 5, 1946 bravery.

Opposes Utility Permits

Permission to excavate for installation of service or repair of same, was granted to the Lawrence Gas Co. Monday night by the selectmen over the continued vigorous objection of Selectman Milton Greenberg.

Greenberg, who has insisted that granting of permits, mandatory under law, are a "waste of selectmen's time," said he could see no use to acting on such matters, particularly in view of some of the work having already been completed.

On occasion the Gas company must excavate to make emergency repairs. Since the selectmen only meet every other week on a regular basis, the work is completed and the public service grant made after the fact so to speak.

Selectman Sidney P. White said he felt the work should be allowed, since repair is necessary.

Greenberg insisted that these grants, along with pole locations in many cases, is a waste of the board's time.

He initiated his move against such actions at a June meeting and has continually opposed the granting of the permits.

Permits were granted for excavation on William street, Poor street and Andover street.

The Mass. Electric Co. was granted permission, provided town counsel finds a contract with the town by the utility to be in order,

Quorum Increase Proposed

The size of a quorum necessary to conduct business at town meeting would be increased if a proposal by Selectman Milton Greenberg is presented and accepted at the October town meeting.

Greenberg, long an advocate of better attendance at town meetings has asked that the quorum regulations be changed to require five percent of the registered voters to be present to conduct the town's business.

He made the presentation at the meeting of the selectmen Monday night and asked that town counsel be advised of his intent in order to have the article properly presented in legal form. It is expected to be given to the town clerk before the Friday deadline.

At present the quorum requirement is 350, adopted by town meeting several years ago at the request of the Andover Taxpayers Association. At that time the stipulation was made particularly

Town To Correct Drainage

Drainage problems in front of the DeRosa property at 158 High Plain road will be rectified by the town.

This was the decision finally reached after several weeks of discussion by the selectmen Monday night.

The drainage problem results from surface water running from the property onto the roadway. In winter time, freezing conditions make the roadway hazardous.

The selectmen have viewed the property and the conditions.

While much discussion Monday night again centered around the responsibility for correction, the board voted to have the town make

Multi - Age Group Plan Set To Be Introduced

The elementary students will experience a wide variety of grouping in their instructional programs this year. The instructional program in reading and mathematics will provide for students to receive instruction in small groups according to their need in specific skills. The groupings will change as the skill need changes.

Known as Multi-Age Grouping, this practice is designed to reduce the frustrations and feelings of defeat children feel when they are instructed in typical classroom groups. Most classrooms typically have an age span of over one year, but the age span is not necessarily directly related to instructional level in each skill area. The typical fifth grade class, for example, would show an achievement level in specific skills that varies from second to above the eighth grade.

The students who experience failure in school repeat grades or subjects as a whole area in most American public schools. Once the failure pattern is established, the student comes to think of himself as a failure and of school as a "bad" place where no one likes him. Everyone needs to feel a degree of success in order to be encouraged to continue his efforts.

The Summer School Program for the past two years has grouped students according to their instructional level in skill areas. It has been very successful from the students', parents', and teachers' viewpoints. Interest activities in the summer program have not been limited to age levels, and the students have been very enthused about those programs.

There will be a more detailed report next week about the grouping practices in each elementary school.

Ceremonies Open New Facility

Ceremonies marking the official grand opening of Massachusetts' newest and most modern automobile dealership, Park-Hegarty Volkswagen, Inc. on Route 110 in Methuen, were held here Thursday, Aug. 19.

Headed by two well-known Greater Lawrence automobile businessmen, Dick Hegarty and Arthur Park, the new dealership is the largest standard Volkswagen building to be constructed in New England. Built of concrete modular design, the 22,000 sq. ft. dealership features distinctive laminated wood beams for exterior and interior support, and a customer service canopy attached to the building. Also on the outside of the building are four elevated concrete pads used for a unique new vehicle display. "These pads were designed in order to give the public a full display of our different model lines," Mr. Hegarty said.

The interior of the dealership features a six-car showroom with a polished slate floor and fully carpeted offices and reception areas. Overlooking the showroom on the mezzanine is a comfortable customer waiting lounge, administrative offices and additional parts storage area.

The new building located on a four acre tract of land, was built by Charles Construction of North Andover. The associate architect was Eric Brainerd of Andover.

Both Alexander Hamilton and his son Philip were killed using the same pair of dueling pistols.

OFF TO SERIES. This delegation of youngsters and chaperones, left over the weekend for a trip to Williamsport, Penn., and the Little League World Series. The group, under the direction of Frank Monette, will also visit historical sites and the Baseball Hall of Fame, before their return to Andover later this week.

On Saturday, Aug. 21, a group of 36 boys, mostly made up of Andover Little League players, and six chaperones headed by Frank Monette, Manager of the American League Championship Red Sox team, Dennis Murphy, manager of the Cubs in the Senior Division, Arthur Ahern, coach of the Senators in the Senior Division, Robert Reddish, Robert Dufault and Jim Fox left to attend the 25th Annual Little League World Series in Williamsport, Penn., and will return Aug. 29.

During the nine day trip, the group will stay at Villanova University the first two days and will go sightseeing in Philadelphia to such places as Valley Forge, Independence Hall, U.S. Treasury, etc., and will also take in a Dodger - Phillies game at the new Veterans Stadium.

The group of 42 will move on to Williamsport Monday and enjoy themselves at their motel where there will be plenty of activities, such as swimming in the pool, a badminton game, horseshoes, baseball games, golf, miniature golf, movies, bikes, bowling, etc.

The Little League games will begin on Tuesday, with teams representing the Far East, Latin America, Europe, Canada and Eastern, Northern, Southern and Western parts of the United States. The first game will pit Nationalist China against Latin America. The finals will be played on Saturday for the world championship. These teams will be the eight regional champions, survivors of more than 5,000 league entries around the world. All the world series games are played on the Howard J. Lamade Memorial Field, a 55 acre site which contains the International Little League Headquarters and the summer camp of little league baseball.

Frank Monette, who attended last year's series, remembered an unusual and interesting side-light, Wayne, N.J., winner of 15 straight games in the sectional play-offs, were not issued uniforms until the players got haircuts, an order with which the boys immediately complied and topped a team from California to win the 1970 World Championship. Another unusual incident was a boy who hitchhiked 3,000 miles from California to see his kid brother play who was using his glove. The boy arrived in the second inning of the game and saw his brother score the winning run to put them in the finals. This is the kind of atmosphere and excitement that is witnessed by thousands of people (30,000 people at the final game) during that most rewarding week of thrills in Williamsport.

To raise money for the trip the Andover boys worked at the Andover Sidewalk Bazaar, sold Auto-Whiz-Kits and did odd jobs.

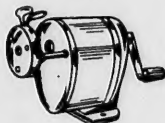

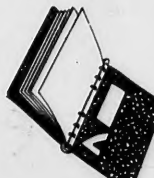

The boys will stop at the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. on the trip home.

Those boys attending the trip are Labeeb and Omar Abboud, Bob Cairns, Gary Cohen, Frank Comparato, Billy Emmert, Dave Farrell, Rick Meuse, Tim and Steve Dubois, Steve Wilkins, Peter Aumais, Mike Legros, Richard Arrigo, Gerry Gould, Tim Kern, Ken Loffredo, Steve Galvin, Bob MacMackin, Greg Brown, Dave Vivian, Brian White, Mark Conlon, Bill and Tim Brennan, Mike McCormick, Scott Collins, John O'Brien, John and Joe Fox, Steve DeSalvo, Dan White, Bob Reddish, Brian Ahern.

Good news for Lawnowners!

When you feed in the Fall you help Nature do its thing!

Independent surveys taken last spring revealed that 4 out of 5 standout lawns were fed the previous Fall. The findings were not surprising, since Fall is the one time when Nature puts all the odds in your favor.

Best thing you can do to take advantage of this unique time of year is to fertilize with TURF BUILDER. Turf Builder is made by an exclusive process that enables it to release its nutrients as the grass needs them. So there's no spindly surge growth to cause extra mowing. Instead Turf Builder encourages root and side shoot growth. Makes your lawn grow thicker, greener and sturdier.

LUNCH TIME. Tatiana Jerow, Miss Essex County of 1971, enjoys a moment for lunch during the county 4-H Rabbit club meeting held at the home of Arthur T. Sevigny on Beacon street last Saturday. Miss Jerow will preside until her successor is chosen at the Topsfield Fair which gets underway Sept. 4.

Plans Scholarship Program

It has long been a generally accepted fact that high scholastic achievement, plus financial need coupled with a desire for further education and conformity with numerous other qualifications result in the awarding of numerous and varied types of scholarships to the qualifying student. While this system is of invaluable aid to the highly academically oriented student, it has been observed to be a rather lop-sided prejudicial system by William J. Igoe, Director of Guidance for the Andover system.

"What happens to the average student, working and achieving to the limits of his capacity?" he queries. Lacking the necessary financial aid to attend a business, vocational, or technical school, he may be compelled to enter the labor market upon graduation from high school. In some instances, the family can sacrifice and find some means to finance his education but all too often the costs are formidable to the average family.

Mr. Igoe feels that many civic organizations might be interested in this aspect of scholarship aid and would like to organize their programs so that some financial aid can be provided deserving students of this type. In other words, provide opportunities for the average student who can contribute so much and is so necessary to society.

While this idea may be revolutionary it should be given some consideration by these civic organizations who have done so much for the furthering of education. Desire and need to achieve are not limited to highly academically oriented students. The average, well-adjusted youth of our school deserve as much consideration as the gifted and have tremendous potential for the betterment of society. Mr. Igoe feels it would be of benefit for the community as well as the individual student if the civic organizations and industries interested in setting up scholarship award committees were to make provisions for these deserving and often needy students because the cost of further education is almost prohibitive to middle or lower income families. It could not help but make for an improved atmosphere amongst students and citizenry alike if some sort of recognition were provided as an incentive for the average student.

Mr. Igoe is willing to meet with representatives of various civic organizations who have contributed so generously in the past, to discuss innovations in the present policies of scholarship awards.

CO-OP Made Corned Beef Is "Out of this World"

What supermarkets bother to make their own corned beef these days? Almost none. The chains typically buy it from an outside source.

Not so the CO-OP. Not only do we make our own corned beef; we make three kinds: brisket, thick end and thick rib, each at slightly different prices.

Why does the CO-OP still make its own corned beef? We like to think that there are two primary reasons.

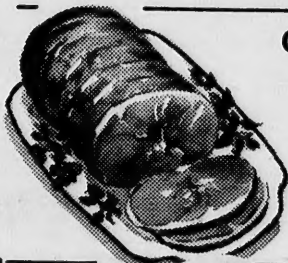

One reason is that we have the skills. We like to apply our skills to food preparation in order to give those foods added value. This gives us a sense of fulfillment.

A better reason is consumer response. Our consumers must like CO-OP made corned beef. They buy it in quantity. One consumer told us our brisket "is out of this world." This makes us more than merchants. It gives us personal satisfaction and a sense of pride.

CO-OP made corned beef is only one of the ways in which this Cooperative serves local consumers through personal involvement with the most basic necessity of life.

SHAWSHEEN PLAZA PLANT - 475-6636

The 1971 season came to an abrupt end for the Andover Babe Ruth baseball team last week, as defending Greater Lawrence league champion Methuen swept a best-of-three semi-final playoff series to bump the locals out of post-season action.

Methuen, which won the regular-season crown with an excellent 17-5 overall record, edged Andover 2-1 in the exciting series opener.

The second and clinching game was tied 0-0 for five innings, before Methuen erupted for two runs in the sixth and six more in the seventh en route to a convincing 8-0 victory.

Andover had earned its playoff berth by finishing fourth during the regular campaign with an 11-10 record.

Methuen 2, Andover 1 -- This had to be one of the finest games of the year, as pitching aces Steve Fabiani of Andover and Fred Simm of Methuen locked horns in a fast-moving mound duel.

The two 14-year-old right-handers, both of whom will be back next year, were involved in a scoreless deadlock for the first four innings.

Methuen broke the ice in the bottom of the fifth, scoring the only two runs it would need to chalk up the win.

After striking out the leadoff batter, Fabiani issued his only walk of the game to Bob Becotte. When Jeff Weinhold forced Becotte at second base for the second out, it appeared that Fabiani would again blank Methuen.

But Fred Eaton thought differently, belting a 2-2 pitch into medium-deep left-centerfield. Andover centerfielder Jeff Towne chased the fly ball a long way, but as he reached up to make the catch going away, the ball glanced off his glove and rolled to the fence.

Weinhold, off with the crack of the bat, came all the way around to score for a 1-0 Methuen edge. Eaton wound up at second base.

Simm followed with a bloop single to centerfield, but alert play by Towne held Eaton at third base. Mike Solomon and Eaton then executed a perfect suicide squeeze, to bring in what proved to be the deciding run.

Eaton broke for the plate with the pitch, and Solomon laid down a hard bunt that rolled past Fabiani as he charged off the mound. Solomon beat it out for an infield single as Eaton flashed across the plate.

Andover came up with another of its patented final-inning rallies, but this one fell short.

With one out, Paul McIntyre walked and chugged to second as Bob Burrow looped a single to centerfield. Kenny Hubbell went in to pinch-run for "Mac."

Jeff Towne, one of the best long-ball hitters in the league, rocketed a Simm fastball long and deep toward the fence in right-centerfield. Put Methuen's Mike Ness was perfectly positioned, and hauled in Jeff's vicious liner some 320 feet from the plate for the second out.

But then, Keith Verrette once again came through in the clutch, drilling a crisp RBI single to left. Hubbell raced home to cut the gap to 2-1.

Simm settled down to strike out the next Andover batter, preserving the win and leaving Andover runners stranded at second and third base.

The big difference in the game was that Andover left 10 runners on base in the seven frames, failing to cash in on scoring opportunities in almost every inning.

Andover's first threat came in the second stanza, as Dave Mosher walked and Billy O'Reilly was hit by a pitch with two outs. The next batter fanned.

In the fourth, Bob "Flash" Driscoll and O'Reilly singled to place two more runners on base. Once again Simm whiffed the next man to end the inning.

In the sixth, Fabiani walked and Driscoll singled with one out. Dave Mosher's perfect sacrifice bunt advanced the runners to second and third, but then O'Reilly lined out to left for more tough luck.

Methuen's only threat, except for the two-run fifth, came in the fourth frame. Ness reached on an error and John Duerr was hit by a pitch with two outs. Fabiani fanned Bob Hajjar to end the trouble and whiff the side.

Fabiani finished with a five-hitter, walking one and striking out four. He faced only nine men over the first three frames, as a pair of Andover doubleplays started by Keith Verrette and Fabiani helped.

Simm tossed a seven-hitter, walking three and fanning seven. The run he surrendered broke a consecutive scoreless inning streak of 27 for Methuen.

Bob Driscoll led all Andover batters with two hits, while sole safeties were stroked by Paul McIntyre, Bob Burrow, Jeff Towne, Keith Verrette and Bill O'Reilly. Simm had a pair of hits for Methuen.

Methuen 8, Andover 0 -- The final score of this contest does not indicate how close it was, as the champs couldn't bust loose until late in the game.

Again the tilt started as a tremendous pitcher's duel - this time between 13-year-old Andover lefty Glenn Verrette and Methuen fireballer Mike Solomon.

Entering this game, Solomon had pitched two no-hit shutouts and a one-hit shutout in succession. Andover managed just three hits against him.

Glenn Verrette, who had pitched a 5-2 win over Methuen during the regular season and was undefeated (3-0) entering the battle, hurled five excellent innings before tiring in the sixth.

He was relieved by Jeff Towne and brother Keith Verrette, but neither was able to contain the Methuen express. However, five walks by Towne and five Andover errors in the last two innings didn't help the cause.

Glenn Verrette pitched no-hit ball for the first three stanzas, and once again Methuen failed to mount a serious threat until late in the game.

Andover put two men on base in the second, when Steve Fabiani led with a single to leftfield and Bill O'Reilly walked with two out. Solomon induced Glenn Verrette to fly out to end the inning.

The most serious threat by the locals came in the third stanza, and a clutch hit here could have reversed the entire game.

With one out, Bob Burrow and Jeff Towne lashed back-to-back singles. Burrow went to third, and Towne alertly raced to second base on the throw to third.

However, both runners were left hanging in scoring position when Keith Verrette popped out to first base and Fabiani grounded out sharply to third.

Andover again posed a serious threat in the fourth. Bob Driscoll and Paul McIntyre walked, while Bill O'Reilly reached on an error to lead the bases with two out. Solomon bore down to strike out the next batter on a 3-2 pitch, continuing the frustration for Andover.

The Methuen righthander then retired Andover 1-2-3 over the final three frames.

In the Methuen sixth, with the score 0-0, Fred Simm led off with a single to rightfield. After Solomon struck out, Simm moved to second on a wild pitch and scored when Mike Ness looped a single to left. An infield error on John Duerr's ground ball allowed Ness to score later.

Jeff Towne relieved Glenn Verrette in this inning, preventing further damage although walking two men.

Everything went wrong in the seventh, as Towne issued three more walks and Andover kicked the ball around five times for five

Service Academies Exam Due

The second written examination for young men interested in attending one of the U.S. service academies will be given by the Civil Service commission Saturday, Oct. 2.

The results of the test will be used by Congressman F. Bradford Morse in determining nominations early next year for July 1972 entrance to the academies.

As a result of recent resignations at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Congressman Morse will now be able to nominate candidates to two vacancies there. He will also nominate candidates for one vacancy at the U.S. Naval Academy. For each of these vacancies, the Congressman will nominate one principal and nine alternate candidates. He will also nominate ten competitive candidates to the Merchant Marine Academy. Congressman Morse will not have a vacancy at the U.S. Military Academy for the class entering in 1972 unless there should be resignations from his nominees presently attending the academy.

Those wishing to take the examination should write to Congressman Morse before Sept. 10 at 15 Kearney Square, Lowell, 01852. They will be forwarded an application form and authorization to take the examination at the nearest examining point.

The petitioner,

House Lots Division Approved

Donald Porter, has been granted a variance by the zoning board of appeals to divide two lots on High Plain road with one lot having less than the required acreage.

The petitioner, at a hearing before the board, showed the board that the overall lot contained sufficient land for frontage requirements but the New England Power company has a power easement over 150 feet in width over one of the proposed lots.

The easement, which the power company does not wish to relinquish at this time, cuts the acreage of the second lot to less than the required acre size.

The planning board opposed the granting of the variance at the hearing.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN, AUGUST 26, 1971

The board, after viewing the property ruled that the variance could be granted without increasing residential density in the neighborhood or without derogation of the intent of the zoning bylaw.

Cashman Regional Director Of New Department

Dr. Jerome G. Miller, commissioner, Massachusetts Department of Youth Services, has announced the appointment of George A. Cashman of 51 High St., Newburyport, to the newly-created position of Regional Director of After-care, Delinquency Prevention, and Community Services. The appointment of regional directors is the first step in the implementation of the department's state-wide regionalization plan, funded through a grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The Legislative Act of 1969 abolished the Division of Youth Services and established the Department of Youth Services as an autonomous state agency. The purpose of this reorganization was to permit the department to provide more effective treatment and rehabilitation programs to those youth committed to Youth Services by the courts of the Commonwealth.

During the past 21 months, the department has reshaped its philosophy and program directions towards accomplishing this goal. With the major emphasis on bringing treatment and rehabilitation to the community level, the department will administer its after-care and residential services from seven regional offices across the state.

As the regional director of After-care in Region IV (Essex County, and the towns of Wakefield, Medford, Malden, Melrose and Everett), Mr. Cashman will be responsible for the development and supervision of all after-care and delinquency prevention programs in the community, including parole and volunteer services, local grant-in-aid programs, and school adjustment counseling.

He will serve as the department's spokesman in his region, and will work with both public and private child-care agencies to cooperatively provide more effective services to children in need.

Plans for the regionalization of the Department of Youth Services also include the establishment of community based treatment units as alternatives to the institutionalization of children in the department's existing facilities. This will permit the department to provide a more individualized total treatment program for each child in its care. Emphasis will be placed on utilizing existing community resources, and local citizens will be encouraged to participate in both the after-care and residential-care programs on a volunteer basis.

Mr. Cashman, a U.S. Navy veteran, received his B.A. in mathematics from Holy Cross College, and has done post-graduate study at Boston College. He worked as a Superior Court officer in the Essex County Sheriff's department before coming to the department of Youth Services in 1965. As a community representative in the Delinquency Prevention Unit, he has worked extensively with local communities and agencies to coordinate resources and programs for delinquency prevention on the North Shore. Mr. Cashman has also served as former Chairman of the State's Advisory Committee on Service to Youth.

The waning days of summer find scores of Essex County garden club members busy with preparations for the flower arrangement competition at the Topsfield Fair's traditional Fall Flower Show, Sept. 4 - 11.

Working from a theme, "Pergola Fantasy," there will be six classes in the Division 1 contest, as follows: The Lovebird's Blush of Color, The Cardinal's Flash of Scarlet, The Parakeet's Touch of Tart Lemon, The Oriole's Glow of Brilliance, The Meadowlark's Wing of Tawny Warmth and The Bluebird's Song of Happiness.

Special Tricolor Awards will be given for "marked superiority" entries in Classes 1, 2 and 6 and Creativity Awards in Classes 3, 4 and 5, of the Division 1 competition.

The arrangement committee is headed by Mrs. Raymond Thompson of Andover. Assisting her are Mrs. Ralph H. Hill, Andover Garden Club; Mrs. E. Warren Wilkinson and Mrs. Warren R. Organist In Concert Wednesday

The original Boston Music Hall Organ of over 5,000 pipes, installed there in 1863 and now located in the Methuen Memorial Music Hall built at the turn of the century especially to house this organ, will be heard again on Wednesday evening, Sept. 1 at 8:30 p.m.

Donald Dame, organist, will perform. Mr. Dame, a native of Rhode Island, has studied at the New England Conservatory of Music and at North Texas State University. His teachers have included Bruce Bennet and Donald Willing. While at the New England Conservatory, he was organist at St. Paul's Cathedral in Boston, where he presented several recitals.

His program includes: Prelude (Fantasia) and Fugue in C Minor, BWV 537 - Johann Sebastian Bach; Prelude and Fugue in A Major, BWV 536 - Johann Sebastian Bach; Prelude and Fugue in B Minor, BWV 544 - Johann Sebastian Bach; Symphonie II, Op. 20 (Allegro, Choral, Scherzo, Cantabile, Final) - Louis Vierne.

The following Wednesday, Sept. 8, Carrol Hassman, now playing regularly in Lexington and Needham, will present a program of organ music at Methuen.

Scholarships Found In Odd Places

Are you an expert of the flora and fauna of the Merrimack Valley? Do you live in Old Adams School District? Did you attend Pollard Grammar School or the Punched Free School? Have you caddied on a New Hampshire golf course?

If you meet any of these qualifications, there may be college scholarship money waiting for you.

Mrs. Nancy K. Williams, Associate Director of Admissions at Bryant McIntosh Junior College in Lawrence, recently discovered these and other unusual stipulations and limitations on scholarship funds. The conditions were found while researching local foundations who would be willing to contribute to the College's newly established $72,000 scholarship program for Spanish-speaking and black youths.

In an effort to help qualified young people attend college, Bryant McIntosh Junior College has made the list of local scholarship foundations available to any student who requests a copy.

THE REALTOR: A SOURCE OF INFORMATION

Are you familiar with the basic functions of a real estate dealer?

One of the most important is to act as a source of information and counsel. He is concerned with all points touching a real estate transaction. He is a specialist, much like a doctor or a lawyer. He is always there to give advice.

And because he has dealt so much in this business, the advice is almost second nature. He knows precisely about value and improvement and transfer and use of real estate. He knows all the best methods by which a client can utilize his property. He is the expert. The client has but to ask.

It is natural for a prospective buyer to turn to this expert. He wants to receive the best for his money. He is not that accustomed to real estate transactions. He needs a specialist.

Do you have special real estate problems? Why not let us solve them! JAMES T. TREFREY, REALTOR is proud to offer you a complete real estate service. A qualified staff member is always on hand to serve you when you deal with us . . . and we've got over 30 years of experience! See us soon: JAMES T. TREFREY, REALTOR, 5 Lowell St., phone 475-0622. Open daily 9 till 5, evenings and Sundays by appointment.

Wine Wisdom
by Jim Burliss

WINE AND LONG LIFE

"Wine" said Pasteur, "is the most healthful and hygienic of beverages." Wine should actually be classified as a food and an aid to health. One quart of wine containing 10 percent of alcohol, furnishes 850 calories, or the equivalent of a pound of meat, or 20 ounces of milk, or a pound of bread. All light wines contain vitamins, particularly B and C which are important to the digestive tract.

In the Medoc district (Bordeaux wine region) of France, there are nearly twice as many persons over the age of 80 per 100,000 population as there are in the rest of France. Claret forms part of the daily diet of these old people. Incidentally, they also boast more golden wedding anniversaries than any other section of France. The old timers of Bordeaux consume about 35 times as much wine as the average American. They must be doing something right.

Variance Granted For Dress Shop

Use of the former Shawsheen railroad station as a dress and sportswear shop has been allowed by the Zoning Board of Appeals. The property, owned by Shetland Properties/Andover, which has assumed ownership of the former Raytheon property in the Shawsheen Mills, is located in an industrially zoned area.

Restrictions on the property placed by the zoning classification, poses a hardship for its use as a retail outlet.

Following a hearing before the board, the permit was granted to Shetland to lease the property to David H. Smith, Inc., of Lynnway, Lynn as a retail outlet for womens' dresses and sportswear manufactured by the company at another location.

No exterior or interior changes in the structure are planned, according to the petitioner.

Ample parking is provided for the stated use of the property.

Seek Funds To Relieve Employment

Andover would be eligible for between $72,000 and $92,000 according to whatever formula is used to disperse federal funds from President Nixon's Emergency Employment Act.

Officials from 16 Essex County cities and towns have met this past week to form the Essex Employment Consortium, to determine the distribution of the $1 million federal grant.

Representing Andover has been Veterans Agent Elmer S. Ober, who has gathered the information for Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, who is away.

The program is to provide employment for veterans and the needy in public service employment.

The town must supply designated jobs with its request for funds.

As of late this week, Andover had made application for funds with the request that formal designation of job classification await the town manager's decision.

The formula for disbursement of the funds is based on population and unemployment of the community. The ratio would be used to determine the actual amount.

Andover's share in the federal grant, extending over a two year period is undetermined, since the actual formula to be followed is difficult to define.

Under some interpretations, the town could receive $72,000, with the unemployment factor considered. On population, the figure could be $92,000.

There are 16 cities and towns composing the Consortium, some other communities seeking grants on an individual basis.

service into Logan airport for the area motels.

This will be a division of the Trombly operation. He can already provide the service to Boston through his current permits for buses. He is now seeking permission from Boston and state authorities to use highways leading to the airport for private transportation. The Massachusetts Port Authority has given the firm permission, and this coupled with his Park square permits leaves only the connecting roads up for permit consideration.

Trombly said this week that business has been excellent and the area has been very good to him.

The move has been necessitated due to the increase in business and the continued effort to provide the best transportation service to the area possible.

An operation for which he fought to obtain for several years having materialized, Trombly now prepares to meet the dreamed of expansion in a new and modern plant.

Drainage

The selectmen, Monday night, by their action in relieving a small drainage problem on High Plain Road, may have filtered a flood of similar annoyances to their attention for correction.

The High Plain road problem is but one of many existing in the community.

Basically it involves surface water running off property onto the roadway. Stated more elementary, it means drainage from private property is entering public ways, via a pipe, which is illegal, according to some interpretation of the town bylaws.

The particular area to be resolved by the board's action Monday night, relieves a small section on High Plain road, where drainage in winter time results in freezing conditions and hazardous roadways and annoyance on other occasions as the surface runoff finds its way to surrounding properties and along the roadway.

The selectmen have listed correction of the condition as a priority item on the list of drainage projects to be undertaken this year.

They have also asked that the town negotiate with the property owner for payment of a portion of the cost of correction.

Several weeks ago, when the problem was initially presented to the board by the town manager, the suggestion was made that town counsel be consulted on the legality of the town's responsibility for installing a drainage system. This was never done.

In similar cases in the past, either the contractor who created the problem, or the homeowner who has acquired it, has been required to bear the expense of correction.

Now the selectmen have voted town funds to relieve a drainage problem, which may, or may not, be a precedent setting decision.

As the decision reads, there is no obligation on the homeowner to financially participate in the installation of the 400 feet of pipe to relieve the condition.

What about those who have already made correction at town request and private expense?

How about the countless other similar problems throughout the town?

What will be the status of the limited drainage improvement account approved at town meeting and for which the department of public works has scheduled work?

The selectmen, as has been customary for too many months, delayed their decision for several weeks. They viewed the property, debated the manner of correction, and ultimately, may have figuratively gotten into water over their collective heads.

We can foresee a further backlog of requests for corrective measures to be taken to relieve drainage problems in other areas of town.

In the immediate area of the single corrective action taken Monday night, there are similar problems.

It is futile to fault the builders, or to seek blame among town officials for allowing the condition to result from new construction. In most cases, the builders have long since left town and the officials responsible are no longer in office. Many of the problems result from the weak building laws existent over a decade ago.

The legality of the town correcting the problem should have been examined before this action, which could open a Pandora's box, was taken.

It well could prove to be a costly decision, since equality in the treatment of similar conditions is now dictated.

Relief Valve

Since the selectmen so often have difficulty in resolving problems presented to them at a single meeting, it might be well to provide a relief valve for them.

The relief could come in the form of having representatives of other town boards or committees on hand for advice or consultation from time to time.

This could be accomplished quite easily, we think, now that the board has a deadline for agenda items.

With the exception of emergency items, all matters pertinent to an upcoming Monday night meeting must be submitted for the agenda by the prior Wednesday.

Under this stipulation, there would appear sufficient time for the board members themselves to ponder any upcoming issue, or, seek representation of specific boards for assistance.

Consultants or engineers dealing with specific problems, are retained by such bodies as the board of health and the planning board. Certainly there would appear to be sufficient time to seek advice in resolving a problem.

Delayed action only seems to amplify some problems presented. Resolve often takes several weeks.

The simple representation of official boards at selectmen's meetings could accelerate the local legislative process.

Quorum

Selectman Milton Greenberg has suggested that the quorum for all town meetings be established at five per cent of the total registered voters of the town.

The item may appear on the warrant for the possible no-quorum October town meeting.

At present it requires 350 registered voters present for action to be taken on town meeting articles.

Raising the number of voters needed, may present problems, but Greenberg's suggestion is well taken.

Unless an issue of vital concern to a minority of the townspeople is under consideration, attendance at town meeting is sparse.

For the most part, even with what is considered good attendance, action on operation of the town's municipal business is transacted generally by a very sparse percentage of the town's voters.

There have been efforts to change the town meeting system, such as a study of change of time, changing to representative type town meeting, etc.

If nothing else, Greenberg's suggestion and proposed bylaw change should focus attention on the need for more civic responsibility on the part of the townspeople to the matters of municipal affairs.

It might even require the complainants of municipal decisions and tax structure, to do something than just talk about the problems and prod them into attendance at the forum of action.

Off The Top Of The Desk

The problems of core cities, of course are amplified and magnified almost daily.

Particularly a problem is transportation.

With that thought, some major firms in places like the Poston area have offered free parking privileges in downtown garages for employees who form carpools. No less than four persons per car are allowed for the privilege.

So far, the plan seems to be working out, with a waiting line already formed to take advantage of the offer.

Styles change and return, of this, there is little doubt.

Pointing out the fact of change and the time lapse in a return, is pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm of the Dodgers.

Wilhelm, the ageless knuckle ball hurler who has appeared in more major league games as a pitcher than anyone else was described by a Poston sportswriter as the man "who came up to the major leagues in double breasted suits in the early 50's and has lasted long enough to see them return."

State authorities have joined the ecology movement.

Beginning with its September issue, the Commerce Digest, a publication of the department of commerce, reaching some 22,000 readers will be published on recycled paper.

The move was instituted by the governor's office, to utilize office waste paper and put it back in circulation through recycling.

Proof readers are a necessity in the newspaper business.

Their eagle eyes insure proper verbiage being presented and seldom does anything pass, at least without some question.

Thus it must have been that one of the sleuths examining copy for a suburban Poston newspaper let the following slip by unnoticed this past week in the classified advertising section.

An auctioneer, advertising his availability for service anytime, anywhere, concluded his ad informing of his telephone number with the accompanying notation, "If I'm out of town, make a date with my wife."

The TOWNSMAN welcomes letters to the editor and will publish them, if certain basic rules are followed.

All letters must be signed with the signature of the writer and the address. Letters should be limited to 250 to 300 words in length.

Preferably, the letters should be typed and double spaced for ease of handling in composition.

Sometimes it's the little things that capture the ire.

Over in North Andover, signs have been placed in front of some of the public schools, noting the name and classification of the building.

The signs we feel are an added attraction, to be sure, but with a multi-million dollar budget, one could suppose that the signs could be a little more decorative in appearance.

While Andover wrestles with the problems of impending proposals of condominium construction, other towns and cities are also facing similar issues.

The town of Plymouth, often compared to Andover in land size, has just had a condominium proposal presented to the town officials. It is the first such presentation in that portion of the state.

Here, in Andover, the condominium

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Fortunately, the Condominium Cloud appearing on Andover's Southern Horizon should prove to be one of the lesser problems to be solved by our assiduous Planning Board. This problem lends itself fully to solution in terms of equity for both Andover and ecology generally.

The condominium scheme, as with its brother, city apartments in the country, is fueled and fired mostly by the allure of turning a profit by taking advantage of all the good environment created and paid for, including public utilities, by the single resident owners in a town. It's a plan for creating a windfall for the few at the expense of the many who pay relatively high taxes on their single residences plus untold hours of yearly work to help nature keep the air clear and clean with greengrowth; the best of all health givers.

Therefore the fair solution is to determine the average home's plot size, say a bit more than a half acre in Andover, then require that for each condominium there must be at least 80 percent of the area of the average house lot devoted to open green area. Thus a unit containing 30 condominiums must be surrounded by at least 12 acres of open green area and taxed at house lot rates just as is the area upon which is built a single house as a dwelling. This plan meets the requirements of both fairness and good environment.

As a foot-fetisher I resent your August 12 editorial: "Bare Feet." It is hard enough to find a little pleasure in life nowadays.

Joseph Landry

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Pertaining to your August 19 editorial "Sites." Last June my wife and I bought our home in Andover after house hunting, off and on, for about two years. Now, three months later, our land is threatened by eminent domain, along with the land of four neighbors and the home of another neighbor with four children. Our land has been chosen as an alternative to a previously chosen 10 acre site in 30 acre Carmel Woods for a housing project for older people -- a very worthy project.

My wife and I are close to both the problems of housing for older people and conservation. My mother is waiting for housing in another community. My wife is a scientific illustrator professionally concerned with conservation. And I have just received a grant to produce a television film about oil pollution.

Yet we are strongly opposed to the taking of our property by eminent domain, or the property of any Andover citizen for this project -- as long as a town-owned, state approved site for this project lies vacant in Carmel Woods.

It is one matter to bear the burden of eminent domain as a truly necessary last resort. It is another matter to bear it because the Conservation Commission would rather see the taking of people's homes and yards advocated than permit the town to use a little used piece of land which is not as rich as a nature area as our's and our neighbor's land. (Fifteen people, the owners and their children, use the yards, wood, home and barn now threatened by eminent domain -- on a daily basis. I challenge the Conservation Commission to find half that number of people using the Carmel site every day, or to try to match the variety of song birds, small mammals, trees, flowers and kinds of woodland on my property and my neighbor's property with the variety in the Carmel Woods site.)

However well intentioned this attitude of putting trees before homes is, it deserves to be called ecological extremism. And I believe at least some of the members of the Conservation Commission would agree if their homes or yards

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - August, 1896

The addition of several lights last winter in many homes and particularly at the Smith and Dove company, has caused the addition of a new generator to be built at the electric company's local plant.

Two chemical extinguishers have been added to the fire department.

Weak batting led to the downfall of the locals as the Lowell Cricket club walloped Andover, 67 to 39.

Union picnic of Ballardvale, Wilmington and St. Augustine's churches will be held tomorrow. Those attending must have tickets for exchange at the railroad station in advance.

Appeal is made for residents to kill poison ivy clumps when spotted. The great rash of growth of the plant is sure to affect school attendance when classes resume.

50 Years Ago - August, 1921

Several auto mishaps on Reading road over the weekend. Many injuries, but fortunately none of a serious nature.

The fire department horses are being used on a road project on Summer street in keeping with the suggestion of the finance committee which felt economies could be realized by dual use of the animals.

A still alarm Wednesday morning brought firemen to a chimney fire on Stevens street in one of the houses owned by J. P. Stevens Co.

Greater Boston youngsters give lively performance in pageant in closing activities at Camp Andover on Pumps Pond for another season.

Tyler Rubber Co., overseers to travel by motor car to Essex for annual outing. An afternoon of games and socializing is planned.

A representative of the Rinehart functional writing system will meet with all public school teachers on Monday at a special session, to explain the proposed handwriting course.

A question on the ballot at the next town election will decide if women teachers are to be paid the same rate as men, according to a vote of local educators.

Court proceedings instituted to prohibit operation of gravel pit off Woburn street. Ballardvale residents protest the operation as a nuisance.

State department of public works recommends traffic lights for Shawsheen square, following a survey of the traffic conditions there.

Selectmen request town manager to take action to prohibit smoke and odors from the dump. Committee is currently studying the waste disposal problem, with a report due shortly.

Plans for a new shop for the water department are under consideration.

No hunting signs are now ready and will be placed at all entrance roads to town, according to a vote of the March town meeting.

Some real estate tax bills reported higher, others lower, as new system rounds total bill to nearest dollar.

Final events conclude activities at all of the town's playgrounds. Special activities featured.

were threatened to avoid what they call "a precedent." It would be hard to find a more effective way of harming the cause of conservation than abusing people with warped priorities such as these and calling it conservation.

In a town that will likely turn to eminent domain more frequently in the future, it might serve homeowners, the common victims of eminent domain, to question the power of our town government to take homes without the vote of a town meeting. (A town meeting would have been required to take the Carmel Woods site.)

As things stand, a bird nesting in Carmel Woods is more secure and has more representation in the face of eminent domain than the taxpaying Andover homeowner.

As of mid-week, any condominium presentation for October would have to be inserted as a private article.

Approved

The zoning board of appeals has granted a variance for the construction of an addition to the dwelling of Priscilla G. Steigler, 148 Salem St.

The proposed addition is to provide an apartment for a member of the immediate family, according to information given the board at a hearing in July.

No Racing At Fair This Year

For the first time in more than two decades, Topsfield Fair will not have pari-mutual racing during its traditional eight-day Labor Day week presentation, Sept. 4 - 11, due to a 25-day extension of the annual dog meeting at nearby Wonderland Park in Revere. However, approval has been granted sponsoring Essex Agricultural Society to conduct a "Topsfield Fair-October Festival," Oct. 9 - 16, with six nights of greyhound racing, along with an excitingly different exposition program.

Starting with the rollicking New Christy Minstrels, Sept. 4, 5 and 6, the Fair will offer such glittering talent as Duke Ellington and his band, Sept. 7, 8 and 9; the Cowsills, Sept. 10 and 11; plus an eight-day Country-Western music festival featuring Elton Britt, Sept. 4 and 5; Marvin Rainwater, Sept. 6 and 7; Kenny Biggs, Sept. 8 and 9; Kenny Roberts, Sept. 10 and 11.

There will be no diminution of the agricultural, cultural and educational attractions which have earned Topsfield international honors. The famous fall flower show, cattle and other livestock competitions, championship horse and oxen-pulling contests, home arts and crafts, 4-H Club exhibits, Miss Essex County pageant, horse shows, will all be part of the extravaganza. Despite sharply rising costs, the Fair will retain its $1 general admission charge with children admitted free at all times.

Andover's Dennis Burke hurled masterful ball for the winners, throttling a last inning rally. He retired the side after a leadoff double threatened the Lawrencean's lead.

Highway Death Toll Dropping

Some good news for a change. Highway traffic deaths are dropping. During 1970, 1,100 fewer lives were lost than in 1969. And this lower traffic death toll is more than just a momentary phenomenon. The number of deaths has been consistently lower every month in comparison to the monthly totals of previous years.

This is extremely significant because July, 1970 was the first month in the nation's history that total motor vehicle travel passed the 100 billion mile mark. Add to this the fact that there are 3 million more drivers and 4 million more cars on the road than in the previous year.

The decline in deaths is attributed to the increased use of safety-designed interstate highways, increased use of safety belts, improved enforcement on drunken driving, and improved car safety design.

Don't let anybody kid you! Your car - not your dog - is your best friend. And you can depend on us to give it the care it deserves. All service and workmanship guaranteed. Photo History On Exhibition

In the first representative exhibition of "Photographs from the Museum's Collection" over 80 works illustrate the development of photography as an art form through Oct. 1 at the Museum of Fine Arts. The exhibition includes a remarkable range of conception and technique from mid-nineteenth century daguerreotypes to select works by Alfred Stieglitz, Clarence White, Paul Strand, Edward Weston and dye transfer prints by Marie Cosindas.

When you run into a stumbling block use it as a stepping stone. It's good mental health to set realistic goals and ambitions that offer both a challenge and reasonable chance of success.

"In his statement to the nation Sunday night, President Nixon said he would propose repeal of the 7% excise tax on automobiles effective immediately. The President also stated he would insist that the American auto industry pass on this tax reduction to customers who buy automobiles this year. This means that if Congress repeals the excise tax, as proposed by President Nixon, new car purchasers from the effective date of retroactivity onward will receive refunds from the Government through the manufacturers of the amount of any excise tax included in the price of new cars they purchase."

Faces Heart Surgery

William Becotte, 14 Clark Road, Ballardvale, will undergo open heart surgery Friday at Massachusetts General hospital.

Mr. Becotte was admitted to the Warren-Baker building of the hospital on Tuesday in preparation for the operation.

Blood donations for the surgical correction have been made by members of his family and the Andover Chapter of the American Red Cross.

His blood needs may be met by donations and appointments made through the local Red Cross chapter.

Mr. Becotte has been a resident of Andover for 18 years. A graduate of Pynchard High school, the former South Lawrence resident has three children.

Drainage

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin had suggested that negotiation with the property owner be sought to relieve the cost burden.

Several weeks ago, the manager had asked the board to confer with town counsel on the legality of who is responsible for correcting the matter, but this was never done.

The drainage construction will require installation of approximately 400 feet of pipe.

Questioned at the Monday meeting was why a single property was considered for correction when there are other problems on the street.

Also commented upon was the fact that similar problems exist in other areas of town, and that only $50,000 is available for drainage work this year, most of it already scheduled.

The board voted, finally, to make the necessary correction at town expense.

Quorum

for special town meetings in an effort to prevent minority groups from calling special sessions and putting through articles for individual purposes.

Greenberg, before and after his successful campaign for office last March expressed displeasure with the low attendance recorded at town meetings, both regular and special.

He advocated an increase in the size of a quorum necessary.

Originally he felt a seven percent attendance would be good but has tempered the regulation to five percent.

According to current figures available in the town clerk's office the five percent quorum figure would make it mandatory for over 580 voters to be in attendance for the transaction of any business.

The registrars of voters, as of this week, had a total registration slightly in excess of 11,700. It is expected that the continued heavy flow of new registrants could bring the figure up above the 12,000 figure by the time registration closes for the participation in the October town meeting.

Greenberg feels there should be more interest in municipal affairs through the town meeting system, as long as such exists.

Through his move for adoption of a new bylaw, he hoped, "to have a reasonable number of voters at town meeting. It is what I could consider a working majority."

Town meeting attendance generally fluctuates with the interest in particular articles. As of midweek, the issues to be faced by the voters at the October town meeting made it rather doubtful that the present 350 quorum requirement would be met.

The finance Committee has indicated that it might push for dropping of the October session this year, should a quorum fail to be reached on the initial night of the session.

For continued viewing pleasure, home craftsmen and gardeners should protect their eyes against the dangers of sawing, paint chipping and grinding.
